

RUSSELL WARDROP... NATURAL BORN TEACHER

Profile

A big audience experience from Russell is one you will not forget in a hurry. He will do 45 minutes right after lunch, when everyone needs a bit of a jag. An hour and a half is a breeze. Jeez, give him the entire afternoon in front of as many as you like. Seriously, three hours.

This short, broad Glaswegian is a former academic, a chartered architect, a champion debater and a natural born teacher. He is a dynamic, charismatic and hilarious speaker who is passionate about communication.

Russell is CEO and co-founder of training consultancy Kissing With Confidence, which for over a decade has delivered at the highest levels with a client base of many global businesses. His creative architectural training, decade in academia, passion for communication and more than 20 years experience in lecturing, facilitation, training, coaching and programme development combine to create a unique alchemy that is impactful and memorable.

Every keynote presentation is tailored to his audience. Russell does not, in the words of Blue Peter, show you "one he prepared earlier". Go for a small, medium or large Top Gear presenter, comedian or moderately famous sportsperson if you like. You may get a high-octane performance, but it is likely to be their keynote, not yours.

Russell believes that how you communicate determines the effectiveness of your life. He has educated, informed and entertained audiences from Aberdeen to London in the UK and in Barcelona, Bordeaux, Budapest, Copenhagen, Dublin, Dubai, Kirkcaldy, Istanbul, Las Vegas, Lisbon, Madrid, New York, Oulu, Prague and Zurich.

He would be delighted to make you his next destination.
